SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION OFFER.

We used to give premium offers of seed--not cheap seed, but good ones, the best that could be gotten. Our readers liked it--they got fine results from the seed. This year we make the very best offer we have ever made. It is a long keen good one--we are able to do this through having bought heavily; in large quantities of everything we offer--using cash. No seed dealer in Alabama has bought so large a number of packages of seed as we have--and we have contracted for several hundred of The Practical Farmer & Gardener.

About The Farm Book.

The farm book we give is brand new--it is up to date; it tells all about farm crops and diseases of crops and plants and orchards. Then it has many pages devoted to hog, horse, cow and chicken diseases--this part alone with the treatments and remedies makes it a valuable animal doctor book, worth several dollars. It is covered in tough, light boards, and is full of pictures and good reading matter.

The Southern Agriculturist

is the South's leading farm paper; it is a large, instructive and interesting farm journal, and a three years subscription to it will be of lasting benefit to you.

The Clipper

is a twice a week paper, with all the county news that's fit to print and some other matter of interest. You can't well do without it.

The Seed

The garden seed are those of Amzi Godden Co., the men who sell the truck, farmers that make their living growing vegetables. They are last years growth of seeds and are fresh and good.

Send all orders by mail or come to office at Elba. Please send money order; do not send stamps as we have more stamps on hand now than we can well use. We will mail premiums postage paid by us. Write out the seed you want PLAINLY. Please say in order whether or not you are getting The Clipper now, and whether you are getting The Agriculturist now, so we will know whether to put your name on now or advance you from old date, so that you won't lose any time paid for on either paper. NOTICE: We cannot change terms of subscription at all, either by adding to or taking from this offer.

COL. PRO BONO PUBLICO

GIVES OUT HIS PLATFORM.

Distinguished Coffee Countian Tells The People In No Uncertain Tones What He Is For On Burning Issues.

His Platform is Very Similar To That Of Candidates Already Running For Governor of Ala.

Col. Publico Is Careful To Offend No One; His Platform "Gits 'em Gwyne And Comin'."

Our distinguished fellow citizen, Col. Pro Bono Publico, unable to resist the importunities of numerous friends, has determined to accept the office of Governor, and in this issue of the Clipper announces his platform. It will be noticed that Col. Publico is very plain and simple in his platform declarations. He says that he follows the declarations so far made by other candidates running for Governor.

Col. Publico, authorized The Clipper to give out his platform, saying to us something like the following:

"I have no points of variance with the other gentlemen who are running for Governor. In fact I have only the highest regard for them and their views, but I can not do otherwise than accept the office, which I plainly see that people intend to give me."

"So highly do I think of the gentlemen who are running for Governor, that while I can not let them have the job, I am willing to adopt their platforms. Col. Seed has not said anything, but I suppose that silence means assent to the views of the others. Col. Mallory has not said anything lately, but his remarks so far are very much in line with the platform utterances of Col. Henderson and Col. O'Neal. So I feel reasonable confident that I may, from the utterances and silence of Col. Seed, conclude that they are in line with the sentiments of the other candidates, to-wit, myself, Col. O'Neal and Col. Henderson.

"I do feel, said Col. Pro Bono Publico, that I ought to improve on the platform utterances of the other Colonels, and so I have done so in my platform. I have made some things very much plainer than my distinguished fellow-candidates have, by putting them in simpler words that means about the same thing. In boiling down this way, I feel that I have a marked advantage, for the newspapers can print my platform in very much smaller space that was needed for those so far given out."

Col. Publico's PLATFORM. To the voters of Alabama: In making known my willingness to be in the hands of my friends in order that they may give Alabama the best Governor the State could possibly obtain, I feel it my duty to make this my declaration of principles, which will let the people know my position on the live and burning issues of the day.

As there is little doubt that practically all the voters are for large appropriations for the common schools, I have the great pleasure of declaring that I am for the common schools, and I am for large appropriations for them. I am for large appropriations for pensions for the old Confederate soldiers, and I would like to have the vote of the old soldiers, and of all the persons who hold powers of attorney to draw the pension warrants of the pensioners to apply on debts owed by the aforesaid pensioners.

I have made the great and alarming discovery that the people were very much interested in the whiskey question. I have made an exhaustive study of the question, and I have devoted the great powers of my patriotic mind to it, in the earnest endeavor to find out how the people stand on this matter; so I do declare, to-wit:

That I am in favor of giving prohibition in Alabama a fair and impartial trial.

As to how long that means, whether a trial in next January, or for two years, or three years, or five years, I without any hesitancy do declare that I am for--

THE VOTES.

As to how I stand on the question of local option, and as to whether I think the unit under local option shall be state, county, beat, school district, ward or city block, I am for--

THE VOTES.

As to how I stand on dispensaries and saloons, I likewise have no hesitancy in saying that I am also for--

THE VOTES.

Some of my distinguished fellow-candidates have not declared on the railroad issue, but my views coincide with those that have declared. Like them, I realize that railroads are great developers; I also realize that the people and the railroads should each have a square deal. Hence on the question as to whether we should keep the present low freight rates, or go back to those we had three years ago, and as to whether the railroads should charge 24 cents a mile as they do now, or 8 or 4 as they did three years ago, I declare that I am for--

THE VOTES.

I conclude I desire to say that we have the greatest state in the Union. I love the farmers, that is the ones that have paid their poll tax. I love the Democratic party. We have the most beautiful women and the bravest men; we have the tallest pines, and the broadest acres; and I unhesitatingly declare that I am always and forever, now and yesterday and tomorrow in favor of the freckled face girls and sun-bonnet boys.

FOR THE VOTES.

Pain in chest and sore lungs, are symptoms that quickly develop into a dangerous illness if the cold is not cured. Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough, heals and eases the congested parts, and brings quick relief. Sold by City Drug Co.

Record Poll Tax Payments.

More than 1800 people paid poll tax in Coffee County for the current year, and nearly 500 paid about $1500 back poll tax.

The schools will get about five thousand dollars from poll tax in Coffee this year.

Big Power Men Here.

Yesterday Messrs. Von Schon and Speight, prominent Northern capitalists and water power experts were here the guests of Dr. H. D. Boyd, looking into the Pea River Power Company's dam site, &c. Mr. Von Schon is the man who built the Sault St. Marie power plant, one of the greatest on earth.

These gentlemen expressed themselves as pleased with the water power here, but declined to give out information as to their intentions.

How Can a Man Know How to Vote For Governor?

No one expects a candidate for Sheriff to have a platform; there are no two ways for a sheriff to do right; there can be no difference of opinion as to what is right in the conduct of the sheriff's office.

In regard to the office of Governor and representative there is no compulsion at all on candidate to give out platforms, yet it has become a custom for them to do so. Since this is the case, candidates for those positions nearly always give out platforms.

When they do give out platforms, the people do not expect them to have attacks of cold feet, yet too frequently the people find when they read the platforms that the candidates needed foot-warmers badly.

The Clipper has no hesitancy in saying that one of two things is true:

Either the candidate who speaks in terms of doubtful meaning, who deliberately and studiously says things that mean nothing at all, has a poor opinion of the intelligence of Alabama's voters.

Or, the candidate who writes in such manner that no man of average intelligence can tell what he stands for is lacking in the discernment that should commend him to the people as fitted to serve the public in a position of trust.

If the people of Alabama are devoid of good sense, or if the candidates for high office are short on discernment, we have reached a sad state. If candidates for high office can deal out to the people a bunch of meaningless platitudes; if they can deliberately throw dust in the eyes of the voters; if Alabama's voters are in truth merely suckers, then they deserve to have jelly-fish occupy their offices.

The Clipper does not say that the candidates for high office are jelly-fish. Not at all. Far from it. But it does mean to say that so far as clear-cut statements of things candidates stand for, any jelly-fish would be equally plain, and would exhibit an amount of candor and fearlessness as to consequences with platform declarations so far made public, or intimated in interviews of candidates.

On some issues we have records of the candidates in the past. We also have their records on dead issues, like white supremacy and the prohibition amendment. But as to what they NOW think on live issues, we are constrained to say that Col. Pro Bono Publico's declarations in his platform, published in this issue, are about as good as the voters have had given them so far. Indeed, he uses fewer words to conceal his real intentions. He plainly lets the people know that his desire for office has made his natural candor and courage ooze out into incoherent desuetude. The other candidates might well patter after his candor.

For instance; suppose the voters of Alabama were to be so big-league as to want to advance certain interests, or defeat certain laws, or help retain other laws, what would they know about which candidate to vote for—we mean from platform declarations? What would they know that would be better than a blind guess?

Suppose certain people in Elba, Brookton and Enterprise were to want to have one of these old-time revenue producers—a dispenser? Since Moody and Spraggins are not in the race, whom could they vote for that they could know would help them? They could learn from some of the platforms that some candidates favor giving prohibition a fair and impartial trial. We have not found any one who knows what that means.

Suppose the people who live in the Hollinshead settlement and at Opp were to want to vote for a man that would help them get a bar-room; which candidate has made himself plain on this matter?

Suppose other people were to want to be left in just the shape they are now in on the whiskey question; which one of the candidates ought they to vote for? What could the people do that would carry out this idea, from what they know now, better than to go into the polls blind-folded and make a mark on the ticket for governor wherever the pencil happened to fall?

Suppose a man believes that those railroads that have voluntarily obeyed the laws and have reduced their passenger and freight rates and put in to operation fair claim paying systems, yet are making more money than ever before, ought to continue to abide by the new railroad laws; what could he do when he had read all that been given out thus far better than to do the blind-fold act when he voted?

Suppose that another man believed in doing good work on a painful and expensive job, finishing it when once it is started, and hence should favor taking no backward steps in the law-suit that the State now has with the L. & N. railroad; that the great questions there involved ought to be settled for once and all; and from so thinking would want to vote for a governor who would give the proper moral backing to the state's contentions; for a governor who would not change horses in the middle of the stream by falling out with the lawyers whom the state has that have devoted years to getting acquainted with the suit; suppose he thought it a wise thing for the state to be saved further bitterness and expense by getting this question settled for good; to that end if he should depend on the state-ments for aid made in the campaign, how ought he to vote?

Suppose another man were to desire to see the railroads favored and fostered; were to desire to see them do as they always did from the beginning till B. B. Comer got on deck—that is charge what they please, treat claims as they please, and do pretty much as they pleased along all lines; suppose this man should want to vote for a governor who thought as he did. Could he learn from the statements so far made which one he ought to vote for?

If the voters are given no further light by the candidates they can do no better than to leave the voting place for governor blank, or vote it blind-folded. Of course very few of us will do that. We'll probably vote for personal friends, or for people who live close to us.

What a chance some of the candidates have had! We feel sure that there are many thousands of voters in Alabama who would have been glad to vote for almost anybody that was FOR things. We have been accused of being for prohibition. Yet a sense of fitness, our appreciation of courage, would make us feel it our duty to vote for a man on the other side that had the courage to say what he's for. We might not do it, but if we did we would make no big mistake, for while he might not be with us, we could now that a brave man, a man whose convictions are stronger than his aspirations, could not make a very bad governor.

Crackmen Identified. Tallahassee, Fla.—Through sobs, a young woman identified the remains of the younger postoffice burglar killed while attempting to rob the postoffice here by the 17-year-old son of the night watchman, as her friend, Walter Roster, of Georgia. She had been with her recently, boasting of his work. It is said, as an expert crackman. Postoffice Inspector Fred Roeger has identified the body of the larger man as "Tennessee Dutch," a famous postoffice burglar and an escaped convict.

LaGrippe pains that pervade the entire system, LaGrippe cough that rack and strain, are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. Is mildly laxative, safe and certain in results. Sold by City Drug Co.

Hon. E. R. Brannon, of Troy, is here visiting relatives and mixing with the voters. He is much encouraged over his outlook for election as judge of this circuit.

Hon. Felix Polmar, of Laverne, is here to-day. He will probably be a candidate for State Senator from the 55th district, composed of Pike, Crenshaw and Coffee. It is Crenshaw County's time to have the Senator under the rotation plan, and Mr. Polmar will make a good senator.

Hon. R. H. Parks, our solicitor, and unopposed candidate for re-election, was here Wednesday. He has never had opposition, yet he always announces in the paper and does as much hand-shaking with the voters as he can.

Mr. Charles C. Brannen has reached here this week from Abbeville to engage in the practice of law. He is a fine young man of excellent attainments. He will office in the court-house.

Mr. John M. Garrett went to Montgomery Wednesday.

Mr. W. L. Maddox Announces.

In this issue of The Clipper appears the announcement of Mr. W. L. Maddox, of Beat 17, for Clerk of the Circuit Court. Mr. Maddox is a fine man, in the prime of mental and physical vigor, has always taken an active interest in public life and stands in the race with good support. He is a son of our fellow-townsmen, Mr. J. J. Maddox, and was reared in Beat 10. He is competent and well qualified and is a good mixer and will make a good clerk.

More than $22,000,000 invested in new looms and spindles for 1910. Baltimore.—That the Southern cotton manufacturing industry had a steady advance during 1909 is emphasized by a review by the "Manufacturers' Record" of plans for new mills and the enlargement of established plants during the year. Cotton manufacturers of the South are realizing more and more the possibilities of their section for textile milling, and their frequent announcements of additions to spinning and looms power their faith in the future of the belt.

ELBA'S POSTAL BUSINESS.

The Biggest Day's Business Since The Office Has Been Established.

Last month Elba's post office broke all previous records for one day's work of rural carriers and also broke all records for total receipts for stamps sold. In one day the five carriers carried out mail to be delivered to the number of 1795 pieces. The gross receipts of the office for the present year have been so much larger than they were for the year preceding that it is certain that there will be an increase allowance made for the coming postal year for Elba post office for clerk hire and postmaster's salary.

Every year since Elba post office was made a presidential office there has been an increase of business; such an increase as to justify its being raised in class. It is said by experts along this line, that nothing shows business

JUDGE S. N. ROWE ANNOUNCES.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Judge Rowe for re-election as Probate Judge of Coffee County. Judge Rowe needs no introduction at our hands to the people of the county. He was born and reared in this county and his life and record are an open book to the people of the county.

Judge Rowe was reared on the farm, and in early manhood removed to Elba, where he engaged in the mercantile business. He always did a thriving business, yet he never amassed wealth rapidly as some merchants do. As to how he dealt with his customers, it is said that when he first entered political life his strongest support came from those who had done business with him when he had been in the mercantile business. This was, indeed, complimentary to his manner of doing business.

In his race six years ago for the office he now holds, Judge Rowe received a very flattering vote over popular and able opponents. During his tenure of office he has started close to the people and has ever had their interest at heart. Judge Rowe came into office at a time of stress in county financial matters. The county owed court house warrants to the amount of about $40,000.00, and in addition it owed a bonded debt of considerable size, contracted many years ago for the building of iron bridges in the county. All of the court house warrants have been paid except one, when will fall due a short while after Judge Rowe's present term ends; so that he can feel that during his term of office the county has retired the bulk of its court debts.

Not only is this so, but Judge Rowe's financial ability has stood the county in good stead in other ways all during his term. The court of the county have been very expensive, largely owing to the fact that the grand juries of the county for a considerable portion of the time were drawn under an unconstitutional law and much of the work they did had to be done over. Then during Judge Rowe's term the courts at Enterprise were installed, involving the fitting up of a building and the purchase of a large number of books and other court house paraphernalia. This expense, amounting to many thousands of dollars, has been met out of current income and has been so wisely handled, that what would have required a bond issue in most counties has been speedily paid up and gotten behind. In addition to these achievements, many new bridges have been built in the county and the payments on the bonded indebtedness of the county have been made as they fell due.

In the recording, indexing and handling of public business generally, Judge Rowe has had no superior, despite the fact that his work can not be done as easily as Probate Judges' work can be done in most counties, on account of the fact that he has two offices. He has kept his records up to date and has done the public's business with commendable promptitude.

In the Commissioners Court his counsel is wise. As judge of the Infant's Court he dispays the soundest learning and discretion. He handles the unpleasant work of habeas corpus hearings with discretion, justice, and good legal ability. A number of cases have been appealed from his decisions to the Supreme Court, and in each and every one of them, Judge Rowe's decision has been affirmed. This record is one of which any judge in the land might well be proud.

Big Census Examination.

Saturday Postmaster Mullins held examination of applicants for enumerators of the census at the school building. He did this as a courtesy to Supervisor J. H. Adams. About 30 applicants for places to take the census stood the examination. The examination consisted of tests similar to the work that the enumerators will have to do in taking the census.

Tax Assessor Lee has been busy lately taking in late assessments. Under the law along about now he has to begin to charge 10% penalty on those who haven't given in their taxes. This fact is bringing in tax payers with a rush as they don't want to pay the big penalty.

Making Life Safer.

Everywhere life is being made more safe through the work of Dr. King's New Life Pills in Constipation, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver troubles, Kidney Diseases and Bowel Disorders. They're easy, but sure, and perfectly build up the health. 25c. at Harp Drug Co.

The Collector J. M. Folsom is about the busiest man in the county. Running out of poll tax receipts, having to reorder, answering questions, making his monthly report, attempting to keep poll tax payments in shape, along with payments of property taxes, have given him a full man's work. He says he has not time to grow fat, as Mr. Conner did.

Mr. W. H. Hall, of beat 18, was in the city a few days ago and told the editor of the Clipper of a pig which he killed in January that weighed 350 lbs., and was only 14 months old. Mr. Hall says he finds it best to raise hogs of good size and kill them before they are old.

A Salsguard To Children.

"Our two children of six and eight years have been since infancy subject to colds and croup. About three years ago I started to use Foley's Honey and Tar, and it has never failed to prevent and cure these troubles. It is the only medicine I can get the children to take without a row." The above from W. C. Orustein, Green Bay, Wis., duplicates the experience of thousands of other users of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cures coughs and colds and croup, and prevents bronchitis and pneumonia. Sold by City Drug Co.

"That Victoria Spelling-Bee."

Eds. Clipper:—

In your last Tuesday's paper there appeared an item from Victoria giving an account of a "spelling bee" that was said to have taken place between the Mt. Zion and Victoria schools and from reading the article one would imagine that Mt. Zion "went in it."

But, as "the truth is the right" you would be kind enough to allow us a little space and we will tell your readers just how it was. It was something like this:

On one afternoon, not long back, the Victoria school with its vast army of "good spellers" came down very unexpectedly to spell the Mt. Zion school, and although their disturbance was an unexpected happening, immediately upon their arrival they were given due and nice reception. They were treated kindly and were given ample room and a showing to justify a fair, square spelling match, and the spelling soon began. And positively, in the short space of about ten minutes the very last cue of the Victoria match had been clipped out, and forced to their seat of defeat, although Mt. Zion had hardly started good. So it is not strange how Victoria can spell so much better at home than abroad.

MT. ZION GOES TO VICTORIA.

In order to return the favor Mt. Zion took her little band and pulled out for Victoria last Tuesday. When it came time for the spelling, Victoria, realizing how impossible it would be to out spell Mt. Zion under reasonable conditions, promptly began their mischief by trying to take advantage of all kinds of unfair

Ed. Clipper:—

I have not seen anything from this part of the county I send you a few notes.

Farmers are hauling guano and preparing for another crop.

Mr. G. L. Beach has moved over into beat 11.

Mr. Cleveland Wilson's mail route has been cut down to three days in the week. We hope the postal department will reconsider this matter and give us a daily mail.

Prof. C. H. Corbett has a flourishing school at New Hope. Some of his students stood examination in December to get license to teach.

Politics are warming up some in these parts. We hear that J. T. Eagerton is being urged to make the race for sheriff. He is a good man and would make a good officer.

If you will just take Kodol now and then you need not fear or hesitate to eat all the good foods that you want. Kodol will digest whatever you eat. Kodol is for weak and sour stomachs. Kodol is pleasant to take and is guaranteed to give relief at once. Sold by City Drug Co.
